COURSE DESCRIPTION:

This is a fast moving class that has been taught in 24 states. It has been presented to local, state and federal law enforcement, including agents of the FBI, DEA, ATF, Homeland Security and various HIDTAs. The instructor is one of the most sought after lecturers in the United States and we are fortunate to have secured this class for presentation in the Region.

The class will provide the student valuable tools to identify sensitive, deceptive and missing information when speaking to suspects, witnesses and others. The information from this class can be used by all persons in the Law Enforcement Community, including Patrol Officers, Probation, Investigators, Analysts and Prosecutors.

- Learn to find the hidden meaning behind words and ask the right questions to get to the truth.
- Increase your critical thinking and listening skills.
- Learn the meanings behind words people use.
- Learn the verbal cues of danger to you and others.
- Understand how information can deceive you.

INSTRUCTOR:

Joelle Fisher, Senior Intelligence Analyst Trainer, National Drug Intelligence Center, Johnstown, PA
Joelle H. Fisher is a Senior Intelligence Analyst Trainer at the National Drug Intelligence Center (NDIC) in Johnstown, Pennsylvania. She has over 20 years of experience in military and Law Enforcement intelligence. As an Electronic Warfare Intelligence Interceptor/Morse Interceptor with the U.S. Army, Ms. Fisher distinguished herself not only in an operational capacity, as an author and co-author of numerous training materials, but also as a trainer. Ms. Fisher is an accomplished lecturer, speaker, and instructor and is in heavy demand nationwide for her informative and dynamic training courses.
